Kelley MSA takes careers to the next level

Regardless of a student's professional goals, a Master of Science in Accounting (MSA) degree from the Indiana University Kelley School of Business opens up a world of opportunities. This comprehensive, flexible program is well suited to both professionals wanting to advance or change the direction of their accounting careers and those who have limited or no background in the field. Kelley's strong connection to local businesses was one of the reasons I chose this program.

—Kayoko Komatsubara, MSA Student

Kelley Indianapolis is one of just 300 programs to be accredited by the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB)—the premier agency granting accreditation to business schools worldwide. Experts in their fields, Kelley faculty publish ground-breaking research, while also placing high priority on teaching and one-on-one interaction with students.

In recent years, Kelley MSA graduates achieved the third highest score overall and the fifth highest score on Indiana's annual statewide CPA exam. Kelley students who submit an acceptable GMAT score. Kelley MSA graduates who achieve the highest score on the CPA exam are eligible for a tuition refund of up to 30% of the MSA degree requirements.

Kelley MSA offers distinctive advantages

Kelley MSA becomes a clear choice for maximizing career opportunities. This comprehensive, flexible program is well suited to both professionals wanting to advance or change the direction of their accounting careers, and those who have limited or no background in the field. Kelley's strong connection to local businesses was one of the reasons I chose this program. I feel very lucky to be a student in Kelley's MSA program. In less than a year, I was exposed to various aspects of accounting and auditing and learned a lot from both classes and other events. I'm prepared to land internships for next year and look forward to gaining hands-on accounting experience.
