

This is the proposed amendment to the bylaws:

Electronic Meetings: When unusual circumstances prevent Faculty Senate from meeting in person for an extended period, meetings may be held electronically. Such meetings should be held synchronously using audio and/or video technology that is accessible to all members. The conduct of electronic meetings will conform as closely as possible to the procedures for in-person meetings as set forth in the Faculty Senate Bylaws and Constitution. Notice of any meeting conducted electronically shall include instructions on participation in the meeting, recognition of speakers, and method of voting. Voting conducted during an electronic meeting will be considered as occurring during a regular meeting.
