IU Kokomo Day at the Mall

On Saturday, November 17, 2007, the Division of Education participated in the first IU Kokomo Day at the Markland Mall. Education faculty and staff, including Dr. Saam, Dr. Sigler, Dr. Cantu, and Mr. Stipp, were on hand to discuss our three undergraduate education programs, (including our new Bachelors degrees in Early Childhood and Secondary Education) and our new Masters degree in Education with people who expressed an interest in our programs.

Fall 2007 Student Teacher Update

The Fall 2007 semester is drawing to an end, and nineteen student teachers will soon be completing their capstone experience in the Teacher Education Program. This group of student teachers has performed very well in their respective schools. Sixteen of the student teachers are K-6 students, two are Early Childhood students and one is a 5-12 student. One of the elementary student teachers split her time with an area elementary school and is finishing up with a rewarding experience overseas (Australia).

The Division is grateful for the continued cooperation between area schools' supervising host teachers and IU Kokomo's University Supervisors. These individuals play a very important part in the Teacher Education program.
