4 2013 TRUMAN SCHOLARSHIP

The Harry S. Truman Scholarship Foundation is expected to award 60-65 merit-based scholarships to students across the nation who will be "juniors" in the 2012-2013 academic year and who plan to attend graduate or professional school in preparation for careers in government or other public service. (See Eligibility section below for the Truman Foundation's definition of "juniors.") Each scholarship is worth up to $30,000 and the Foundation assists Truman Scholars "with career counseling, internship placement, graduate school admissions, and professional development." To compete for the award, students must be nominated by their undergraduate institutions. The IU Truman Selection/Nomination Committee has set 4 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 15, 2012 as the campus deadline for students who wish to be considered for the 2013 competition.

The Truman Scholarship seeks to promote public service, which the foundation defines "as employment in government at any level, uniformed services, public-interest organization, non-governmental research and/or educational organizations, public and private schools, and public-service oriented nonprofit organizations such as those whose primary purposes are to help needy or disadvantaged persons or to protect the environment." Scholars are required to work in public service for three of the seven years following completion of a graduate degree program funded by the Truman.

Eligibility: To be eligible for consideration for the Truman Scholarship, a student must have a clear commitment to a career in public service, be a U.S. Citizen or National, and be nominated by his/her university. The student must also be a "junior-level student". See <http://www.truman.gov> for official eligibility criteria.

IU Nomination Process: The IU committee will select up to four nominees for the national 2013 Truman competition. To be considered by the IU committee, IU students must submit a completed Truman Scholarship application, including a 500-word policy proposal on a significant issue related to the candidate's intended area of public service, by 4 p.m., Nov. 15, 2012, to Elaine Hehner in the Hutton Honors College, 811 E. Seventh Street, Room 210E, Bloomington, IN 47405. Students seeking consideration should also arrange to have ALL three letters of recommendation described in the Truman application material sent directly to Ms. Hehner by Nov. 15. Application materials being used for the fall process at IU are available from Ms. Hehner and can be downloaded from the Truman website: <http://truman.gov/for-candidates/2013-competition/sample-landing>. For additional information on the scholarship and guidance on the application, including the 500-word policy proposal, see the Truman website: <http://www.truman.gov/home>. For additional information on the scholarship and the IU nomination process, contact IU's Truman faculty representative Judy Failer, jfailer@indiana.edu, or Elaine Hehner at ehenner@indiana.edu.

5 INSTITUTE ON PHILANTHROPY AND VOLUNTARY SERVICE SUMMER '13 INTERNSHIPS

Early Deadline: December 5, 2012; Scholarship Funding Available

Spend a summer in Washington, DC making an investment in your future that will help set you apart after college. The comprehensive program sponsored by The Fund for American Studies includes a guaranteed internship placement, courses for transferable credit, and furnished housing in downtown Washington. This fast-paced eight week academic internship program will allow students from around the world to dive head first into the nonprofit sector while they live, learn, and intern in Washington, DC. IPVS is the ideal program for students ready to learn the practical, philosophical, and ethical components of leadership in the nonprofit sector. Students will be accepted on a rolling basis until the final deadline of March 7, 2013. Applicants are encouraged to apply for the early deadline of December 5, 2012 in order to receive preference in admissions and scholarship consideration, as well as a 5% tuition discount.
