Courses Change Requests for 30 day remonstrance

K352 Education of Students with Learning Disorders BL variable 1 to 3 credits
Change Course Name and Change from a 3-credit course to a Variable 1-3 Credit course

Justification: K352 is a special education methods course that we are continuing from the old program. However, our program and the state certification has changed from one that targets specific disabilities (emotional handicap, mild mental handicap, learning disabilities) to a non-categorical program. This course continues to focus on teaching methods for students with high-incidence disabilities with an emphasis on their academic needs. We are now offering the course as 3 credits in the Junior I semester and 1 credit in the Spring of their Junior year. This was approved by TEC and Policy Council with the program that was presented originally, but we did not make the changes for the specific course.

K370 Introduction to Learning Disorders BL

Justification: Again, as in the justification for K352, this better reflects the non-categorical nature of the program and the new certification patterns.

M500 Integrated Professional Seminar BL & IN (02.41)

This seminar is linked to courses and field experiences included in the Transition to Teaching (T2T) Program. It will allow for collaboration among school-based mentors, university-based instructors and T2T candidates in offering academic content appropriate to the program. The seminar will provide a technology-rich and performance-based professional experience. This course has a fee attached.
