John Minor Ross PhD,
Faculty Senate President
Indiana University Kokomo

Faculty Senate President Ross:

During the 2008-2009 year honorary degree committee met several times to discuss ideas for deciding who we might nominate. We gathered a list of previous honorary degree recipients to see if diversity had been considered in the previous years. It had been. Since we could not think of any individual who had not already received an honorary degree, I sent out a campus wide email soliciting suggestions. We received no replies. Then I went to External Relations and asked if they had any suggestions. I asked if they thought of any in the future to send us their ideas. Ultimately neither we nor the rest of the campus had any ideas for an honorary degree nominee.

During the 2009-2010 year we did not meet.
