Li Fu (MIS / MLS, IU SLIS, 2006) will become the new Digital Services Librarian at the University of Maryland University College in Adelphi, Maryland beginning in May, 2008. Li was a graduate assistant in the Swain Hall Library from 2004-06, worked as a reference assistant in Business / SPEA, was a web programmer at the Indiana Daily Student, and is currently an ALF Project Cataloging Support Specialist in the Wells Library. The IU Libraries have been fortunate to have Li; she has accomplished a tremendous amount in a short time frame and will be missed by several units. Please join me in congratulating Li for a job well done, and wish her well as she faces new challenges as a Digital Services Librarian.

Monroe County Female Seminary Exhibit

We are happy to announce a second exhibit during the month of March that commemorates Women's History month. The Monroe County Female Seminary: An historical retrospective. Over 100 academies were incorporated in Ohio and Illinois by the 1840s, many of them private or semi-private. Indiana and Iowa, however, established 'County Seminaries' built on land granted by the state. Utilizing materials from the IU Archives, Wylie House, and the Monroe County History Center, this exhibit tells the story of one early educational opportunity for women in Bloomington.

Dates: March 4 - 31

Location: IUB School of Education, Matrix Gallery (third floor)
