Update on Retirement of new.iucat.iu.edu

As part of our project to retire the new.iucat.iu.edu domain initially used to publicize the Blacklight catalog interface during its beta launch, all visitors to new.iucat.iu.edu URLs will be redirected to a static page, effective today May 13.

The static page will inform them of the impending discontinuation of the new.iucat domain and point them to iucat.iu.edu.

The new.iucat.iu.edu domain will be taken out of service on Friday, May 27. After that time, links to new.iucat.iu.edu will no longer work. The iucat.iu.edu domain will not be affected by this change.

Please update any links beginning with <http://new.iucat.iu.edu> to point to the iucat.iu.edu domain.

Feel free to contact me via email or telephone (crgreene@indiana.edu, 812-855-4217) with any questions you may have.

IU Librarians Health Sciences Summit

The Ruth Lilly Medical Library is pleased to sponsor the 4th annual IU Librarians Health Sciences Summit!

All library staff are invited to attend this day-long educational summit. The focus for the various sessions is on topics of interest, especially for librarians working in the health sciences, but all are welcome! Not only can you network with your colleagues across the state, there are also opportunities to present and discuss (see registration).

The summit will be held Wednesday, June 8, 2016 from 8:30am-2:30pm at the Ruth Lilly Medical Library, Indianapolis, IN.

Registration is free and breakfast and lunch are provided.

Please register at <https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/HealthSummit16>.

More information (including agenda) can be found at:

Call for Proposals: 5th Annual Indiana University Libraries Information Literacy Colloquium

DATE: Friday, August 5, 2016

PLACE: Indiana University Southeast, New Albany Indiana

THEME: Critical Information Literacy: Empowering Learners for Social Change

Critical pedagogy is an approach to teaching and learning that envisions the educational environment as a site for social change. Practitioners of critical information literacy instruction seek to incorporate an emphasis on social justice into the library setting in a number of ways, including resisting the passive banking method of teaching and learning, disrupting and transforming the power relations between teacher and learner, validating student voice and experiential knowledge, and exposing how oppression and societal inequities shape information production and dissemination.

The planning committee for the IU Libraries Information Literacy Colloquium is seeking proposals for 45-minute interactive breakout session presentations that investigate, examine, or describe how critical pedagogy can be enacted in the library instruction setting. Suggested topics include, but are not limited to:

- Critical pedagogy teaching strategies for information literacy instruction
- Successes and challenges of adopting critical approaches in information literacy instruction
- Critical approaches to revising the information literacy curriculum
- Critical approaches to information literacy at the reference desk
- Classroom or program assessment from critical pedagogy perspectives
- Communicating with faculty and the campus at large about critical pedagogy
- Incorporating critical information literacy into library outreach, programming, collection development, or other library services

Proposals should clearly describe how presenters will use interactive strategies to engage attendees. The deadline for proposal submissions was May 9, 2016. Presenters will be notified about the status of their proposal by June 1, 2016.

More information about the Colloquium can be found at: <http://libguides.ius.edu/colloquium>
Any questions? Please email conference co-coordinator Michael Courtney (micourt@indiana.edu).

Staff News

Mary R. Mellon to Join University Archives

Effective June 6, Mary R. Mellon will be the new Assistant Archivist within the University Archives. Mary received bachelor's degrees in History and Russian, both from Duke University, and did graduate work at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, where she earned an MA in History and MS in Information Science. Mary recently completed a project position at Duke's Rubenstein Rare Book & Manuscript Library, arranging, describing, and rehousing the records (including paper, audiovisual, graphic arts, and born-digital) of the Jewish Heritage Foundation of North Carolina and its related collections. Prior to that, she held an internship in the Rubenstein during which she reprocessed the Duke family papers and also served as the William King Intern within the Duke University Archives, which immersed her in its public services. Please join the Archives staff in welcoming Mary to Indiana University!

Sarah Mitchell Has Joined the Staff of the Lilly Library

The Lilly Library is pleased to announce that Sarah McElroy Mitchell has joined our Public Services Department as our new Reference/Technical Associate. Sarah earned a BA in English from Union University (2009); an MFA in Poetry from Converse College in Spartanburg, SC (2012); and an MLS with a specialization in Rare Books and Manuscripts from Indiana University (2015). As an intern and student employee, she has brought her charisma, enthusiasm, and steadfast willingness to tackle the knottiest of reference questions to the department for the past year and a half. We are thrilled to welcome her in a full-time capacity!
