SUBJ: Report of the Sub-Committee on Teaching DATE: March 28, 1967

*****

At long last, Henry Remak's Sub-Committee Report on Teaching is now available. A private donor has made it possible for a copy to be available for every faculty member in the University. I am leaving copies at the switchboard to be passed out to each full-time faculty member and academic staff member. Your name will be on your copy. I hope that each of you will pick up your book (several hundred pages long) and read--in fact, closely study--it as soon as you possibly can. I hope that from this Report we can discover adequate ways of proceeding to guarantee that our claim that good teaching is important to us is something we really mean.
