

School of Public and Environmental Affairs

Mission Statement

The School of Public and Environmental Affairs (SPEA) is a multidisciplinary unit of Indiana University and is organized as a professional school. It is the mission of SPEA to prepare tomorrow's leaders through innovative education, to solve complex problems through interdisciplinary research, and to enrich society through professional service.