Dress for Success promotes job readiness skills

KOKOMO, Ind. — Are you looking for a job or internship? Do you plan to look for one in the near future?

Come learn how to succeed in your interview, at Indiana University Kokomo's annual Dress for Success fashion show and interview skit, from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Wednesday, October 9, in Alumni Hall.

“This is a fun way we can prepare students to succeed when looking for a first job, or trying to get an internship,” said Tracy Springer, manager of career services. “You only get one chance to make a great first impression. We think this is valuable not only for those about to graduate, but for all students, to learn how to be professional.”

The event includes a runway show of work and interview appropriate clothing, and an interactive “What Not to Do,” skit, emphasizing what is and is not appropriate interview attire and behavior. There will also be refreshments and door prizes.
