Indiana Libraries Special Issue Call for Papers: Indiana Innovation in Library Outreach and Instruction

Colleagues, we want to hear about your successful and innovative library outreach and instructional programs!

Now more than ever librarians must move beyond their traditional roles and actively seek out opportunities to connect libraries with the communities we seek to serve. Our relevance to these constituent groups will grow as we establish partnerships, develop programs and create experiences that encourage and support learning, literacy, and progress. This special issue of Indiana Libraries (to be published in Fall 2014) will feature articles on successful and innovative library outreach and instructional projects and programs that break down

Have you checked out the Lilly Library at IU Bloomington lately? The latest exhibit, "Raintree County: A Celebration of the Life and Work of Ross Lockridge, Jr." is definitely worth checking out. The display on the Indiana author includes items from the Hollywood adaptation of Lockridge Jr.'s book, Raintree County, and art used for the boundaries and forge connections between librarians and their communities of users.

Possible topics might include:

- Developing authentic, community-based opportunities for library instruction and outreach
- Harnessing emerging technologies to develop creative outreach or instructional initiatives
- Creating spaces for library users to engage in projects/activities that promote lifelong learning
- Aligning learning activities with the needs of your audience (i.e. K-12, adult learners, college students, English language learners, seniors, etc.)
- Designing effective learning experiences for library users
- Assessing the impact of instruction and outreach programs

The length of articles will vary according to the needs of the author. Article proposals in the form of a brief narrative are due by Saturday, March 1 and should be submitted through the Indiana Libraries site. If you have not already registered you will need to do so. Otherwise simply login and submit.

General information about Indiana Libraries and instructions to authors can be found on the Indiana Libraries Federation (ILF) website. Submissions must follow editorial guidelines.

Other information or questions can be directed to special editors Lori Dekydtspotter (lodekydt@indiana.edu), Cherry Williams (chedwill@indiana.edu), Carrie Donovan (cdonovan@indiana.edu), or Michael Courtney (micourtn@indiana.edu).

Herbert S. and Virginia White Professional Development Award 2014: Call for Applications

DEADLINE EXTENDED! The Herbert S. and Virginia White Professional Development Award deadline has been extended to Friday, March 7. Employees of the IU Libraries system who hold an MLS degree or have equivalent experience are invited to submit applications for the Herbert S. and Virginia White Professional Development Award. All IU Libraries staff on all campuses in clerical, technical, and PA positions, and all individuals with librarian appointments are eligible to apply for this award. The White Award has been established to support the career growth of individuals who have chosen librarianship as a profession. Further information about the award, the process, eligibility, criteria, and the application form are available on the web.

first edition dust jacket. The exhibit is on display until May 19. Jack Kerouac's original manuscript of On the Road is also on display for a very limited time -- catch it before it leaves on February 22! On loan from Indianapolis Colts owner Jim Irsay, the manuscript is in a very unusual format -- it's a scroll that measures 119 feet! For more information, check out the Lilly Library website.

Staff News

Stacy Konkiel's last day with Indiana University will be Friday, February 28. She has been invited to join the team at ImpactStory, an altmetrics startup company. Stacy came to Indiana University in 2012 from California where she was a Marketing Associate with the Public Library of Science (PLOS). In her two years with us as our first Science Data Management Librarian, Stacy has accomplished a tremendous amount, defining this new service, implementing the Data Management Plan Tool for researchers, and collaborating within the libraries and without to build a seamless support system for researchers to manage their data. She has been an active participant in the scholarly communication activities of the department, and is very engaged with the profession, publishing, and speaking at national and international conferences. She earned her MLS (with a concentration in Digital Libraries) and MIS (with a concentration in Information Retrieval Systems Design) degrees concurrently from Indiana University in August 2008. Even though we will miss her, we are happy that she has this chance to follow her passion and wish her all the best in her new career.
