IU South Bend Adopts Open Access Policy

The IU South Bend Academic Senate voted to approve an Open Access Policy on Friday, January 18. Cheers to Craig Finlay for spearheading and garnering great support for this initiative. Many thanks to colleagues across IU for their assistance and advice. We are the third IU campus to adopt an open access policy (IUPUI and Bloomington are the others).

Staff News

Zach Downey Resigns

Zach Downey has left the IU Libraries to move to Colorado with his wife Tricia. Those of you who know Zach understand that it is hard to say goodbye to such a wonderful colleague. Zach has worked at the Lilly Library since 2008 and before that held positions at the Wells Library and the ALF. Some parting words from the man himself: "I'm looking forward to hiking, camping, skiing, and climbing mountains, although my first several months will likely be spent missing my wonderful Lilly colleagues and close proximity to the Vonnegut manuscripts. At some point I will need to find a job, but I may try to reconnect with my inner-mullet and see where it takes me. I will always think fondly of my time at IU and remain grateful for my friends within the libraries."

Zach's last day at the IU Libraries was January 23.

Linda Fisher Retires

Warm wishes and a bonny farewell to Linda Fisher, Director of Research/Instruction/Outreach at the Schurz Library, IU South Bend who is retiring at the end of January. Linda started in March 1980 as a Government Documents librarian, working under the leadership of Dr. James Mullins. Over the course of her long career, she has mentored many new librarians, helped thousands of students with reference and government publications questions, taught hundreds of instruction and information literacy classes, consulted with faculty across campus on assignments and projects, curated and promoted different collections, and assisted with numerous library planning and assessment initiatives. On top of that, Linda is a very visible faculty member on campus, having served as an Affirmative Action Officer, on numerous Academic Senate Committees (perhaps, all of them?!) and more recently, as co-leader of the campus Higher Learning Commission re-accreditation process. Her colleagues and students will agree that no matter what the activity or task, Linda brought great insight and a wonderful sense of humor. She will be greatly missed.

Janice Frisch Resigns

It is with sadness that I announce that Janice Frisch has resigned from her position as acquisitions editor at IU Press. I am, of course, genuinely happy for her as she leaves to pursue other opportunities that may take her far away from Bloomington. She'll always be a member of the team in our hearts. Please join me in wishing Janice well for what comes next! Her last day at the Press will be March 6.
