From the Indiana University Foundation, we have recently received three interesting booklets which the Foundation wishes to be distributed to all full-time professional staff of the University. If you will check with my secretary, Ruth Meuninck, she will have your copies for you. I want to call particular attention to the booklet concerned with giving to Indiana University through the Indiana University Foundation. We are even now exploring ways in which we might get appropriate community support directly for some of the programs and special needs of our Campus.
