Pamela Effrein Sandstrom, Helmke Library's Director of Library Programs and Development, will retire on June 30, 2011. She will continue her long association with IPFW as Associate Librarian Emerita, and hopes to stay in touch with Fort Wayne friends and colleagues by keeping her IPFW e-mail account active. She is continuing to serve as archivist for the Central States Anthropological Society.

Pamela first came to work at IPFW Helmke Library in February 1976 as a serials assistant. From 1978 to 1980 she was head of the serials unit, and left to pursue the M.L.S. (master of library science) degree from Indiana University Bloomington, which she earned in 1981.

Latter at the Helmke Library, Pamela served once as visiting science librarian during 1985-1986, as part-time general reference librarian from 1981 to 1983, and interim document delivery librarian in 1993. In 1998, after earning a Ph.D. in library and information science from IUB, she returned as head of the library's reference and information services unit. Following a sabbatical leave to continue their long-term anthropological work in Mexico, Pamela returned to Helmke Library to focus her efforts on defining the new learning-commons initiative at IPFW that would feature information literacy as the cornerstone of an undergraduate education. She leaves us with the framework (and soon, the actual scaffolding) in place, and a sense of confidence that the next 30 years will bring as many changes to institutions of learning like IPFW as she has witnessed in her career as a librarian. At the base of this vision of librarianship lies the age-old sense of "athenaeum" — both a physical building and an organization of people dedicated to the promotion of learning.
