Sunday May 7: IUCAT Public Interface Upgrade Release Date

This academic year we have been hard at work on an overall upgrade to our Blacklight catalog discovery layer and its underlying infrastructure, which includes an interface update that complies with current IU brand standards and refreshes the overall look and feel. Many thanks to the UITS ELS team, Rachael Cohen, Matt Fitzwater, and others who have made this upgrade possible.

This upgraded and refreshed public catalog interface will be released to production during a scheduled downtime period on Sunday, May 7 from 8:00am–10:00am EDT. Library staff at the Bloomington campus as well as Ed Seykowski (IUN) and Gabrielle Carr (IUS) will validate the release that morning. Many thanks to Ed and Gabrielle.

Once all testers have signed off, an email notification that the upgrade is complete will be sent to CHL, the Discovery Layer Advisory Group, public services desks, and to all existing SIRSI listservs.

Following the release of the refreshed public interface, comments, bugs and problems can be reported using the “Feedback” link available via the IUCAT navigation.

Thanks to all who assisted with testing this upgraded version of IUCAT. Please contact me with any questions.

I am pleased to announce that Shelly Couvrette has accepted the Electronic Resources Cataloger position (previously held by Rachel Wheeler) in the Monographic Image Cataloging section. Shelly came to the IUB Libraries in 2002, where she worked in the GIMMS department before transferring to Technical Services. ### Heidi Kelly Resigns

I am sad to announce that Heidi Kelly will be leaving IU later this month to take a job with Saatchi & Saatchi in Los Angeles as a digital asset manager. Her last day at work at IU will be May 25.

Heidi joined the IU Libraries in July 2015 as our first Digital Preservation Librarian, and in the relatively short time she has been here, she has been instrumental in moving our digital preservation program forward in terms of policy, technological capability, and faculty and staff engagement. Among many accomplishments, she established a new Born-Digital Preservation Lab, led the effort to make the IU Libraries' first

Heiko Mühr Resigns

Our colleague Heiko Mühr, Cartographic Resources Cataloger, will be departing IU for temperate climes akin to his native Northern Germany. Heiko has accepted the Map Metadata & Curatorial Specialist position at the University of California, Berkeley. Heiko worked for nearly a decade in a variety of student positions within the IUB Libraries before accepting a full-time Circulation Manager position in the Education Library in 1999, and then the Branch Library Coordinator position in the Geography-Map Library in 2002, before landing in Technical Services in 2009. Heiko masterminded numerous successful projects and logged many fruitful hours of reference, instruction, and cataloging time. Heiko's last day of work is on May 12, 2017. Please join Heiko and his friends and colleagues for a farewell reception on Friday, May 12 from 9:30–11:00am in the Wells Library 3rd Floor Staff Lounge.
