'Dress for Success' offers fashion and interview tips

KOKOMO, Ind. — Indiana University Kokomo students are invited to learn tips and techniques to help turn their world-class degree into a career, at the annual Dress for Success Fashion Show and Interview Skit.

The event will take place on Wednesday, September 19, beginning at 11:30 a.m. in Alumni Hall. There will be door prizes and refreshments served.

Tracy Springer, manager of the Office of Career Services, said the event is a fun way to help students prepare for life after earning a college degree.

“This is a valuable event for all students, to learn professionalism and how to impress future employers,” said Springer. “This is a fun way to prepare students for their first interview, internship, and first job.”

The professional development program, hosted by Career Services, includes a runway fashion show, with students modeling interview and career-appropriate clothing, and a “what not to do” interview skit.

Indiana University Kokomo serves north central Indiana.
