Sunday May 7: IUCAT Public Interface Upgrade Release Date

This academic year we have been hard at work on an overall upgrade to our Blacklight catalog discovery layer and its underlying infrastructure, which includes an interface update that complies with current IU brand standards and refreshes the overall look and feel. Many thanks to the UITS ELS team, Rachael Cohen, Matt Fitzwater, and others who have made this upgrade possible.

This upgraded and refreshed public catalog interface will be released to production during a scheduled downtime period on Sunday, May 7 from 8:00am – 10:00am EDT. Library staff at the Bloomington campus as well as Ed Seykowski (IUN) and Gabrielle Carr (IUS) will validate the release that morning. Many thanks to Ed and Gabrielle.

Once all testers have signed off, an email notification that the upgrade is complete will be sent to CHL, the Discovery Layer Advisory Group, public services desks, and to all existing SIRSI listservs.

Following the release of the refreshed public interface, comments, bugs, and problems can be reported using the "Feedback" link available via the IUCAT navigation.

Thanks to all who assisted with testing this upgraded version of IUCAT. Please contact me with any questions.

Head of Area Studies Cataloging Update

I'm sorry to have to announce that Lana Soglasnova will not be joining the Libraries as the Head of Area Studies Cataloging. Due to unexpected family needs, she is unable to take on this new job.
